

Gardening Up North

The 59th CEJH Congress

Malmö, Sweden.

22-28 July, 2018

CEJH: the European community of young horticulturists.

Welcome to Sweden!

The CEJH is proud to welcome members and observers to the flourishing horticultural region of Skåne. It has some of the most fertile lands in Europe and a climate that is far milder than you would expect on 56° north. You will learn that “Gardening up north” is not as hard as it sounds. The city of Malmö is a buzzing cultural melting pot and was recently ranked a top ten destination for best trips in 2018 by National Geographic.

For the 59th year in a row CEJH has the pleasure to offer a seven days congress packed with excursions to a wide range of interesting sites and companies. We also offer plenty of time and activities for getting to know each other and to create a strong network across the European borders. Our congresses are a rare opportunity for young horticulturists to learn and make contact with the business and people abroad. Such contacts are an asset for everyone and it has never been easier to maintain them than it is now.

We hope that you will be inspired by this leaflet and register for a week together with us. Don't hesitate to ask if you have any questions. If you like to organise your travel together our community on Facebook can be of assistance. We look very much forward to meeting you in Malmö!
